How did the Fund perform over the last 12 months?

During the annual period (May 1, 2024 to April 30, 2025), the Seafarer Overseas Growth and Income Fund's Institutional Class returned 5.94%, while the Fund's benchmark indices, the Bloomberg EM Large, Mid, and Small Cap Net Return USD Index<sup>(1)</sup> and the Morningstar EM Net Return USD Index<sup>(2)</sup>, returned 6.95% and 6.73%, respectively.

At the outset of the period, emerging market (EM) equities traded sideways. In September, China announced coordinated but vague stimulus programs, inducing a surge in Chinese equities. Those pronouncements failed to materialize; by December Chinese stocks slumped again. Meanwhile, EM currencies drove returns, fluctuating in response to U.S. politics and rate policies. EM currencies initially lost ground to the dollar, but they recovered, finishing the period at record highs. Throughout, the Fund's performance was driven by a sharp increase in dividends from its holdings, underwritten by improving profitability.
